Arts Council of Wales is working with Tom Fleming Creative Consultancy (TFCC) to develop an evaluation framework for evidencing the impact of the Criw Celf young people's visual arts talent development programme across Wales. (<http://www.criwcelf.co.uk/>)

To ensure we develop an evaluation framework and tools that are practical and effective, we want to work with you, the Criw Celf delivery partners. At the two events we will explore the outcomes and impacts that Criw Celf is having for the young participants and you as partners and also the best ways of telling the story of these impacts. We hope to meet as many of the people involved in the Criw Celf programme as possible: partner arts officers, galleries, arts organisations, colleges and schools, as well as artists and, if possible, some of the participating young people.

*If you join us at the event in Cardiff on the 11th, we hope you will stay on for the launch of HORIZONS at the Story Museum, the exhibition of work from the young people taking part in Criw Celf Cardiff. To find out more please follow this link below:
